

A warm welcome to refugees.

Father Hudson's Care wants to help you help refugees.

Trappist monk welcoming a stranger. Jules Dauban (1864)

During 2017 and 2018, Father Hudson's Care is reaching out across the Diocese to support parishes and schools already providing a welcome to newcomers, and help those considering starting new initiatives. The refugee crisis is still growing and we all have a vital role to play in helping newcomers feel welcome.

As a parish or school, would you like to find out more about asylum seekers, refugees and migrants?

With our help, could you provide practical support for destitute asylum seekers?

Could you host a welcoming coffee morning for isolated newcomers?

Supporting newcomers to this country has long been at the heart of Father Hudson's Care through our partnership projects: Brushstrokes in Smethwick; Hope Community in Wolverhampton; Fatima House in central Birmingham; and working closely with St Chad's Sanctuary, also in Birmingham. Will you join us?
